

Exemption Exams: Transportation OYAP

Students that are successful in this program earning all four of their in-school credits and a minimum of 2 coop credits will earn a Concentrated OYAP pre-apprenticeship certificate. This indicates that the students have successfully completed the Concentrated OYAP program. All students may challenge the Ministry of Training, Colleges and Universities exemption exam. However, it is recommended that only students who have earned a minimum of 70% on all units with an overall average of 80% consider writing this exam. Students with the above will earn a Concentrated OYAP pre-apprenticeship certificate with honours. Students who are successful in challenging the ministry exemption exam will get their level one apprenticeship. Please note the college may charge a fee for administering this exam.

Some of our Transportation OYAP courses are also dual credit programs with Mohawk College, where they can earn level one if the student gets a high enough average of all sections of the course.
